

SHAPING
DEADLY MINDS

The title is rendered in a bold, 3D block font. Each letter is filled with a different vibrant color (orange, yellow, green, blue) and features intricate, raised patterns such as dots, swirls, and wavy lines. The text is set against a dark, circular background with a complex, embossed texture resembling a brain or a maze. The outer edges of the image are decorated with a pink and purple pattern of circles and swirls.

PLAY.

LET THEM LEAD!

Think about play time as bub's time to lead,
so go along for the ride.

Follow what they're curious about and see where it takes you.

PLAY.

SHOPS

Let's play shops! Grab some empty boxes and set up your own little store. Take turns being the shopkeeper or the customer
"Next please!"

PLAY.

MOVE LIKE A ...

Can you ... bounce like a kangaroo?
Soar like an eagle? Slither like a snake?

Pretend play gets bub moving around and helps develop coordination and imagination.
Take turns acting out their favourite animals!

PLAY.

DRESS-UPS

Dressing up is a great way for bub to explore who they are and express themselves. Have some fun with clothes and hats, become different people, characters, or even make-believe creatures.

The sillier, the better, have a laugh and enjoy it together!

PLAY BALL

There's no end to the fun that can be had with a toddler and a ball. Throwing, rolling, kicking, or chasing it around.

Let bub have a go, who knows, they might be the next big footy star!

PLAY.

Play helps bub grow strong in mind and body. It's how they learn about the world, build skills, and find their voice. It's also a chance to connect and get to know each other—deadly, silly, quiet or calm... how does your bub like to play?
