

PLAY.

Play may look simple, but bub is learning so much! Playing nurtures relationships, language, imagination and develops physical skills.

We are bub's first teachers and there is so much that we all can do to follow their interests, connect and learn new skills.

THEIR FAVOURITE TOY... IS YOU!

Bubs enjoy playing with the people who love and care for them. Spending time with you and their favourite people is the best part of play!

PLAY TOGETHER.

Playing together, with friends, family and community, helps children practise turn taking, communication and social skills.

AGAIN AND AGAIN.

Practise new skills over and over. Watch the laughter on bub's face when they build, knock over and re-build a tower.

YARN IN PLAY.

Take time to chat with bubs about what they are doing in their play and ask open-ended questions.

EXPLORE NATURE PLAY.

Bubs are naturally curious and love to explore. Encourage crawling, climbing and running outdoors, playing in sandpits, using playdough, dancing or playing with water. Stay together and connect.

Learn more at shapingdeadlyminds.org.au

SHAPING DEADLY MINDS