

Singing is a gentle way to bond with bub. Listening to music and singing helps bubs learn to regulate their emotions and gather information about their world.

A mix of traditional and new songs help bubs develop a love of music and builds their speech and language.

LOVE YOUR VOICE.

Your bub loves to hear your voice and they won't mind if you are making up the words or singing out of tune.

FACE TO FACE.

Bubs watch your face closely when singing. This is how they learn to make sounds and words, and they'll soon start copying you.

SLOW IT DOWN.

When we sing we naturally slow down our speech. This helps bub hear each sound while having fun singing and enjoying music.

SING ANYWHERE.

You can sing with bub anywhere or any time! Try while bathing, walking, playing or driving.

REPETITION IS LEARNING.

Go ahead, sing bub's favourite song for the hundredth time, its building strong brain connections!

Learn more at shapingdeadlyminds.org.au

SHAPING DEADLY
MINDS